Nancy Brady, Ph.D.

Associate Professor, Speech-Language-Hearing: Sciences & Disorders
University of Kansas

Progress in developing an assessment for individuals with autism and minimal verbal skills.

Dr. Nancy Brady is an Assistant Professor in the Speech-Language-Hearing department at the University of Kansas. Dr. Brady's research focuses on the development of communication and language in individuals with developmental disabilities and autism. She also focuses on the development assessments and interventions for individuals with minimal verbal skills.

November 17th, 2017 3-4pm
Fairway Conference Room
KU Clinical Research Center
4350 Shawnee Mission Parkway Fairway, KS 66205